

THE BOARDMAN SCHOOL

EXCELLENT WORK SHOWN AT THE EXHIBITION NOW OPEN.

The showing of the work of the year—Skill and Dexterity—The Exhibition Open to the Public.

The exhibition of the work accomplished at the Boardman Manual Training school this last year was opened yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The exhibition is held in the mechanical drawing room on the upper floor, and is most creditable, showing excellent work. The room is decorated with potted plants and with the various exhibits placed on the tables presents a pleasing appearance.

At the east end is the table showing all the stages of work as undertaken and accomplished in one season by the class of boys in wood work. There are half laps, scarfing, mortise and tenon dovetailing of three kinds of plain drawers, also window and door joints, a window and door complete, thus covering the entire art of carpentering.

At the other end of the room is the table devoted to wood carving. Those who have articles on exhibition are Miss Bertha L. Gages, Helen M. Warner, Harriet M. Barney, Anna Dillingham, Maudie Doyle, Mary E. White, Ina M. Cox, Helen M. Stevenson, Henrietta M. Barnes, Alice T. Andrews, Eva L. Byington, Cora L. Hotchkiss, Addie E. Durant, Helen M. Brown, Mabel B. Marsh, Alice V. Embler, Ella Rosseter, Cora M. Leggett, Anna Steadman, Alice W. Barrett, Lillian W. Abbott, Theodora Stroud, Harriet F. Lambert, Bertha F. Haskell.

There are tables devoted to wood turning, cooking, while on the walls are mechanical and free hand drawings and charcoal work.

On the center table are numerous exhibits, the work accomplished by the best scholars. G. D. Ford has made an excellent piano stool, and H. S. Munson has a small pilot wheel made of different colored woods, which reflect great credit on the makers.

A room is devoted to the sewing work of the grammar school pupils, besides the regular Boardman girls' work. G. D. Ford has an excellent drawing of a locomotive engine and tender, beside the regular mechanical work.

The exhibition will be open this and to-morrow afternoons to all those who desire to visit.

There are thirty pupils in the incoming class for the next year. The reason for a few a number applying for admission is thought to be the long hours of the school.

NORTH HAVEN.

June 24.—Rev. Mr. White of Trumbull, Conn., preached two good sermons in the Congregational church on Sunday. A lady from Massachusetts, who is a stenographer, took an exact copy of the morning discourse from Acts 9:4, and it is well worthy of reading and study. Rev. Mr. Lathrop is taking his vacation.

The Village Improvement association will give a good entertainment, principally by home talent, in Memorial hall on Tuesday evening, June 25, consisting of a drama, a character song by school children, female quartet, male quartet, trios, solos, etc. Ice cream, lemonade, etc., will be served in the court room at the close of the program. Admission twenty-five cents; children under fourteen ten cents.

St. Patrick's Annual.

The excursion of the St. Patrick's Y. M. C. A. society July 4th will be undoubtedly a very successful affair. The steamer Continental has been secured and an excellent time is expected. The boat will go to New York and Coney Island.

THIS superb dressing and tonic in liquid form, while it slightly darkens the hair, is not designed to restore color to gray hair. Hair like individuals differs greatly. One person's hair will grow out of use. This preparation is designed as an elegant hair dressing, without staining and over-greasing the hair, yet with vegetable oil sufficient to keep dry, harsh or brittle hair soft, smooth, and soft, bright, life-like condition. It is a refreshing, tonic and gentle stimulant to the hair and scalp, gives tone, firmness and strength to the same. Stops dropping or falling of the hair, promotes vigorous growth. For use of WELLS' TOILET HAIR LUXURY the most improved hair is restored to vitality and vigor, and preserved from premature decay. Suffered to young or old, male or female. Harmless.

PRICE $1.00.
SIX FOR $5.00.
Sold by Druggists or sent prepaid by Express, on receipt of price.

ACCUSED OF EMBEZZLEMENT.

Henry Hilzenberg Arrested Last Night on a Serious Charge.

Henry Hilzenberg was arrested last evening at his home on Chapel street, near Olive street, by Detective Sergeant Cowles on a warrant and looked up, charged with embezzlement. Hilzenberg was until the 15th of last February employed as a collector by J. Kaiser & Co., the Chapel street clothing store. About that time his pecuniary affairs were discovered and a warrant issued for his arrest. He then left the city, it is supposed, and since that time has up to last night managed to elude the vigilance of the police.

Hilzenberg's method consisted of collecting money due his employers from customers and representing to Kaiser & Co. that the bills had not been paid. In this way he is accused of having collected $12.75 from Gertrude Dudley, $16.50 from Mrs. M. D. Whiting, $25 from Miss Hannah Whiting, $7 from Miss B. Sanford and $73 from E. F. Barnes—a total of $137.25. His case will be tried in the city court this morning.

ALUM AND PHOSPHATIC ACID.

Not Permissible in Food nor for Daily Human Consumption.

Reference has heretofore been made to the danger from an indiscriminate use of powerful drugs except upon the advice of a physician. Alum, phosphoric acid, ammonia, sulphuric acid, and even arsenic, are valuable medicines when administered as such and by a careful doctor as specifics for relative diseases; but for a well person to take such drugs daily in unknown quantities without reference to the condition of the system or the advice of a physician would be an alarming proposition indeed.

It is well understood that alum baking powders render the food indigestible and produce dyspepsia, and that phosphoric acid affects both the stomach and the brain. The latter is not permissible in any quantity during a large portion of a woman's life. It is true that there are phosphates in our various foods, but they are present in quantity quite sufficient for all healthful purposes. It is not a fact that it is necessary or useful to restore to flour, by means of a baking powder, phosphates lost in milling. On the contrary, the modern processes of making flour preserve the natural phosphates of the grain so far that a pound of flour actually contains more phosphates than a pound of grain before grinding.

The fact is that phosphate of lime and alum are used by some manufacturers of baking powders because of their extreme cheapness, and for no other reason. They produce powders which when fresh will raise bread in ten minutes, but which rapidly lose their strength after the packages are opened. They do not, however, produce food that is of the finest character or wholesome. They leave a peculiar taste in the food, and are so far liable to produce bad results that their manufacturers are sometimes constrained to caution consumers against using too large a quantity. Such powders are produced at a cost of a few cents, some of them less than five cents a pound. They are sold to consumers at from twenty-five to fifty cents a pound, and the large margin of profit affords the means to push their sale in many ways.

The only ingredients proper for a baking powder are highly refined cream of tartar and soda, and of powders thus made the physicians and scientists tell us the Royal is the purest and most reliable.

GOLDEN WEDDING.

Of Henry Killam, the Noted Carriage Manufacturer, and Wife—Held Yesterday at Their Summer Home.

The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Killam was celebrated at their summer home at Killam's Point, Branford, yesterday afternoon. The affair was a most enjoyable one, and those present were mostly of the family. The gifts, which were beautiful and many, included a large loaf of cake from friends in Hartford and Thompsonville covered with gold dollars. After a most pleasant evening the party broke up, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Killam many years of happiness. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Thompson of Meriden, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Clark of Hartford, Mr. T. I. Pease of Springfield, Mass.; Mr. Wallace Clark of Newfield, Conn.; Miss King of Atchinson, Kan.; and Miss Martin of Ellington, Conn., sister of Mrs. Killam; Mr. Edward Killam of Thompsonville, Conn.; Mr. Fred Bidwell of Windsor Locks, Conn.; Rev. and Mrs. Nickerson of New Hampshire; Mr. and Mrs. E. Killam, Jr. of Meriden; Rev. Mr. Mason, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Phelps, Deacons Cooper and Ferris, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Snell, Major and ex-Secretary B. F. Mansfield, Mr. Stanley of New Britain, R. A. Brown and family, John Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Snell, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Galpin, L. Moulthrop.

SALISBURY AT WINDSOR.

Sent for by Queen Victoria to Organize a Ministry—Balfour May Be Premier—Harcourt Announces the Cabinet's Resignation to the Commons—The Retiring Cabinet.

London, June 24.—Lord Salisbury went to Windsor this morning, having been summoned by the queen. Her majesty will request him to organize a ministry, in view of the resignation of the Rosebery cabinet. Lord Rosebery, in tendering his resignation on Saturday night, advised that Lord Salisbury be sent for.

It is thought here that Lord Salisbury will consent to form an interim ministry and retire from the leadership after the general election in favor of Mr. Balfour.

THE MEN WHO COMPOSED THE ROSEBERY CABINET.

London, June 24.—Following are the members of the retiring ministry: Lord Rosebery, prime minister, first lord of the treasury and lord president of the council.

Lord Herseford, lord high chancellor. The Right Hon. Sir William Vernon-Harcourt, chancellor of the exchequer. Lord Tweedmouth, lord privy seal and chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.

The Earl of Kimberley, secretary of state for foreign affairs. The Right Hon. Herbert H. Asquith, secretary of state for home affairs. The Marquis of Ripon, secretary of state for the colonies.

The Right Hon. H. Campbell-Bannerman, secretary of state for war. The Right Hon. Henry Fowler, secretary of state for India.

The Earl Spencer, first lord of the admiralty. The Right Hon. James Bryce, president of the board of trade.

The Right Hon. A. H. Dyke-Acland, vice president committee of the council. The Right Hon. George Shaw-Lefevre, president of the local government board.

The Right Hon. John Morley, chief secretary for Ireland. The Right Hon. Sir George Trevelyan, secretary for Scotland.

The Right Hon. Arnold Morley, postmaster general. This ministry, with the exception of Lord Rosebery as prime minister and the Earl of Kimberley as foreign minister, was formed by Mr. Gladstone in August, 1893, when he became prime minister for the fourth time.

Mr. Gladstone's stay at Biarritz in February, 1894, the Pall Mall Gazette announced his retirement from office, but the report was denied, though in very guarded terms. On March 1, 1894, Mr. Gladstone made his last speech in the house of commons as prime minister.

The next day his resignation was made public, the chief cause of his retirement being the discovery that he was suffering from cancer in both eyes.

On March 3 he had an audience with the queen and gave up the seals of office. Lord Rosebery held the post of foreign secretary in Mr. Gladstone's cabinet, and succeeded him as prime minister. Two or three changes were then made in the cabinet by the transposition of members to different offices.

It has been often reported and as often denied that Rosebery was anxious to drop the cares of office, and it was thought probably by many persons that he would retire during or after his recent illness without waiting for an adverse vote in the house of commons.

It was also said that there was considerable friction between Lord Rosebery and Sir William Vernon-Harcourt, who had at one time been regarded by many as Mr. Gladstone's legitimate successor in the premiership.

With Lord Rosebery as premier the anomaly was presented of a peer as the head of a government party pledged in a manifesto to amend or end the house of lords, with its inherited legislative rights.

Lord Rosebery's retirement again calls to mind the prediction he is said to have made concerning himself when he was a schoolboy. He then declared that he would marry the richest heiress in England, win the Derby, and become prime minister. He is 57 years old.

His daughter (deceased 1890), only daughter of the late Meyer de Rothschild, who was then the richest heiress in the country; in 1894 he won the Derby with his horse Ladus and repeated the victory this year with Sir Visto, and he filled the office of prime minister for a little over fifteen months. Lord Rosebery is only forty-eight years old.

On Board a yacht, sail-boat, or any kind of vessel, there's a great deal of work that can best be done with Pearl Line. It washes all the paint, wood-work, glass, etc., better than anything else. Most captains have found this out—and Pearl Line is kept in foreign ports, now, on purpose for them. You can't use soap with salt water, you know; but it doesn't make much difference—salt or fresh, hard or soft, hot or cold—with Pearl Line.

Beware of Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearl Line." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back.

PERSONAL JOTTINGS.

Mrs. Romanta Wells and her daughter, Miss Lila Wells, of Chicago, are visiting friends on Clinton avenue. They formerly lived here, occupying a handsome house on Trumbull street. Previously their home was in Fair Haven. A year ago they moved to Chicago, where Mr. Wells is prominent in the drug business. Harry G. Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wells, graduated from Sheffield Scientific school this week.

Principal George L. Fox of the Hopkins Grammar school, sails next week for Europe, where he will spend the summer in England, and on the continent.

Mrs. Harry Pepper of Philadelphia, who as Lettie Fisher was one of the belles of the faculty set, is in town for a few weeks the guest of her father, Professor Irving Fisher. Mrs. Pepper will have a party of Philadelphia girls with her for the commencement salettes.

Miss Ella Humphrey of Howe street is in Massachusetts for a few weeks' vacation. A recently announced engagement is that of Miss Mary McDonald of Palm Beach, Florida, to John B. Reilly of this city.

Mrs. E. W. Southworth of York Square has cards out for a tea this afternoon.

Olinda Going to Pieces.

New London, June 24.—The steamer Olinda is fast going to pieces at Fisher's Island, where she ran aground. To-day there was a high sea running, and the steamer broke amidships. All the cargo has been removed from the hold of the steamer, and the wreckers will now try to get out her machinery. The excursionists who visited the wreck to-day were as many as those of yesterday.

His Death Was Sudden.

South Norwalk, June 24.—Oliver Smith, a wealthy New York capitalist, died suddenly this evening at the residence of his brother, Theodore Smith, in this city. While at the supper table this evening Mr. Smith fell back in his chair and expired. He was sixty years of age. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause of death.
